

Theodore Gordon Flyfishers and the Environmental Consortium of Hudson Valley Colleges & Universities present the inaugural
TGF Founders Fund Society Spring Lecture

EARTH'S CARETAKER: AN EVENING WITH NRDC CO-FOUNDER JOHN H. ADAMS AND PATRICIA ADAMS

INTERVIEW BY ANDREW C. REVKIN

April 25, 2011

Columbia University
Faculty House
64 Morningside Drive
New York, New York

Theodore Gordon Flyfishers, Inc.
P.O. Box 2345
Grand Central Station
New York, New York 10163-2345

www.TGF.org

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Theodore Gordon Flyfishers and the Environmental Consortium acknowledge the generous support from our host institution, Columbia University, with special thanks to Natalie Unwin-Kuruneru and The Earth Institute.

Many thanks to the outstanding work of Donna Kowal of the Environmental Consortium, Sara Low of Theodore Gordon Flyfishers and Ann Roach of NRDC.

Natural Resources Defense Council (NRDC) is an international nonprofit environmental organization with more than 1.3 million members and online activists. Since 1970, its lawyers, scientists, and other environmental specialists have worked to protect the world's natural resources, public health, and the environment. NRDC has offices in New York City, Washington, D.C., Los Angeles, San Francisco, Chicago, Livingston, Montana, and Beijing.
www.nrdc.org

Theodore Gordon Flyfishers is a not-for-profit, volunteer, angling organization, founded on American fly fishing traditions, promoting stream and river protection and self-sustainable salmonid populations through conservation, environmental oversight, activism, catch-and-release practices, and education. Founded by fly-fishing and conservation giants such as Lee Wulff and Ted Rogowski, TGF has a 45-year history of supporting conservation in the Catskills. Ongoing TGF activities include TGF Beaverkill Restoration, to restore trout-spawning access to Beaverkill river tributaries, and Stream Clean-Ups.
www.TGF.org

Environmental Consortium of Hudson Valley Colleges & Universities was established in 2004 to advance understanding of the cultural, social, political, economic, and natural factors affecting the Hudson River Watershed, and is headquartered within Pace University's Academy for Applied Environmental Studies. The Consortium's mission is to harness higher education's intellectual and physical resources to advance regional, ecosystem-based environmental research, teaching, and learning through interdisciplinary, collaborative programs and information sharing.
www.environmentalconsortium.org

The TGF Founders Fund provides scholarships annually to outstanding students in a graduate or undergraduate environmental program. It has worked in concert with the Environmental Consortium of Hudson Valley Colleges & Universities to provide these scholarships since 2006.

The TGF Founders Fund Society was established to create an endowment for the Founders Fund in an effort to protect and sustain the scholarships for the years ahead.

Founding Patrons

Kathryn Heavey	Ted Rogowski
Donal O'Brien	Stuart Salenger Foundation

Sustainers

Stanley Bryer	David Kramer
Bert Darrow	Terry McCartney
Bruce Jabbonsky	David Sgorbati
Karen Kaplan

Supporters

Shannon Brightman	David Miller
James Duda	John Shanahan
Fred Lowenfels

Members

David Berman	Patricia Key
Glenn Erickson	Sara Low
Joel Filner	Richard Schager
Gardner Grant	Lawrence Solomon
Jackie Gordon	Jessica Steinberg
John Happersett	Arthur Stoliar
Diana Jacobs Kalman	Julia Wallace

BIOGRAPHIES

John H. Adams on Beaverkill River.
Credit: Anthony Clark, NRDC

John H. Adams co-founded the Natural Resources Defense Council in 1970, serving as NRDC's executive director and later president from its inception until 2006 -- a tenure unparalleled by the leader of any other environmental organization. As NRDC's founding director, Adams continues to play an active role in the organization on the local, national and international levels. In February 2011, Adams received the Presidential Medal of Freedom -- our nation's highest civilian honor -- from President Obama, who referenced Rolling Stone Magazine's description of Adams when announcing the award: "If the planet has a lawyer, it's John Adams."

In 2010, Adams and his wife Patricia co-authored A Force for Nature, a memoir recounting their forty years of battles and victories with NRDC. He is currently chair of the board of the Open Space Institute and sits on the boards of numerous other environmental organizations. He has also served on governmental advisory committees, including President Clinton's Council for Sustainable Development.

Patricia Adams

Patricia Adams is a writer and teacher who has partnered with her husband, John Adams, Founding Director of NRDC, for many years in environmental activism. She has written about travels with NRDC to such places as Alaska, Tajikistan, the Amazon and China as well as articles for the NRDC website. In addition she has published three non-fiction books.

Patricia has a short weekly program on an NPR affiliate radio station in upstate New York; a literary 'quiz' on famous writers of the world. She has written book and play reviews for the local paper. She taught literature and philosophy in the New York State Prison System for twenty years.

Credit: Paul Morse

John H. Adams receives the Presidential Medal of Freedom Award
at the White House on February 15, 2011.

Andrew C. Revkin

Andrew C. Revkin is the Senior Fellow for Environmental Understanding at Pace University's Academy for Applied Environmental Studies and writes the Dot Earth blog for The New York Times. A prize-winning journalist, online communicator and author, he has spent nearly three decades covering subjects ranging from the assault on the Amazon to the troubled relationship of climate science and politics. From 1995 through 2009, he covered the environment for The Times as a staff reporter. His work on climate change has won most of the major awards for science journalism. Revkin has been a pioneer in multimedia communication, blogging and shooting still and video imagery in far-flung places.